The First Blow Is Struck In The Mexican Crisis

United States Marines Landed At Vera Cruz and Tampico---Sharp Fighting---4 Mariners Killed, 26 Wounded

Vera Cruz, Apr. 22, 11 P. M.—Admiral Fletcher started landing men at noon yesterday for the first step in the Mexican affair, all the important places along the waterfront were immediately seized. Suddenly the Mexicans started the real warfare with a fusillade of shots which was taken up along the waterfront; the Gunboat Prairie returned the fire with her big guns to protect the marines ashore and soon reduced the famous Juarez Tower, where many Mexican sharpshooters were stationed, to a mass of ruins. General Maas is reported to have left the city, and the main body of the Mexican army has started towards Mexico City. There is a thousand American soldiers now stationed along the waterfront and other places that have been taken by the U. S. soldiers. After the battle was over the loss of the American Marines was placed at four dead and twenty wounded, the loss to the Mexicans is supposed to be over two hundred dead but this is not official. There is much firing being done by the Mexican citizens of Vera Cruz from the house tops, but is doing little damage; the officers of the fleet have ordered the big guns turned on the residence portion of the city if it is not stopped at an early date. Many of the women of the city have taken refuge aboard the liners in the harbor.

Washington, Apr. 22—The Senate at three-twenty this morning passed a War Resolution, declaring President Wilson justified in employing armed force in the Mexican affair, by a vote of seventy-two to thirteen.

Washington, Apr. 22—The Navy Department has ordered the Lieut.-Admiral Badger to go immediately to Vera Cruz and there divide his fleet at his discretion along the coast.

Washington, Apr. 22—It is reported by the War Department that the first call for volunteers will be issued at once and will take in every State Militia regiment in the Union.

Vera Cruz, Apr. 22, 1:35 P. M.—The bombardment of the city by the American battleships lasted a half hour this morning and while in progress the American Marines who captured the waterfront yesterday made rapid advance through the city, clearing the way with the rapid firing guns. There was a smart rifle fire from Mexican sharpshooters all over the contested district; the peons also are all armed and resisted the Americans but when they were dislodged the Mexicans made a hasty retreat. The lower half of the city is now in the hands of the American soldiers and American guards have been placed in all the captured Federal Barracks and principal parks in the captured districts. The Mexican Naval Academy, also the Arsenal, were captured and demolished by the ships' fire. None of the municipal officials can be found and it is thought that they have fled from the city.

Washington, Apr. 22—The reports are coming in from all over the Mexican country telling of anti-American riots, and many outrages against the Americans in that country.

Washington, Apr. 22—It was admitted by Government officials that marines have been landed in the city of Tampico, but at a late hour today no news could be learned of the encounter.

San Francisco, Apr. 22—Several cruisers together with the battleship South Dakota sailed early this morning for San Diego with a full war complement aboard. They will await orders to sail for Mexico at San Diego.

Washington, Apr. 22—Secretary of State Bryan admitted at noon today that no word has been received from Charge de Affairs O'Shaughnessy since last Monday and it is feared that he has been murdered by the Mexicans. During the interview Bryan denied the statement that has been published to the effect that if the United States resorted to bloodshed in the Mexican affair he would resign. He stated that there was not an item of truth in the statement.

Washington, Apr. 22—President Wilson sent a special message to Congress asking for an appropriation of $500,000 to bring the stranded American subjects in Mexico back to the United States. Congress adjourned immediately after passing on this, tired out with their long night of strenuous work.

Vera Cruz, Apr. 22, 2:45 P. M.—Rear Admiral Badger and Admiral Fletcher have combined their fleets and the light guns are shelling the southern part of the city to demolish the buildings from where the Mexican sharpshooters and citizens have been firing on the U. S. Marines. Three thousand additional marines have been landed and the Mexicans are falling back as the buildings are destroyed. General Maas with his family have fled. The Atlantic Fleet arrived in the harbor shortly after day break this morning. Fires are being set and extinguished in various parts of the city.

Washington, Apr. 22—President Wilson stated today that he was very sad over the killing of the American Marines at Vera Cruz but that it was an unavoidable event.

Washington, Apr. 22—The House adopted the resolutions of the Senate at ten-thirty this morning.

Eagle Pass, Apr. 22—Two thousand refugees crossed the Rio Grande today at this place from the Piedrasnegras, when the Federal Garrison at that place was evacuated.

Washington, Apr. 23—The War Department has sent orders to the Rear-Admiral in charge of the Atlantic fleet in Mexican waters to see that German freighter which is being held by the Navy at Vera Cruz, be returned to Germany. The freighter was loaded with a cargo of arms and ammunition for the Mexicans.

Vera Cruz, Apr. 22—This city is expected to pass a quiet night as the American marines have perfect control of all the southern and waterfront portion of the city.

Washington, Apr. 23—Up to noon yesterday only six U. S. Marines were reported wounded. The account of the afternoon is not yet known.

Washington, Apr. 23—The report has reached here that three hundred Mexican citizens were arrested yesterday at Vera Cruz charged with sniping among the Americans. The prisoners were distributed among the battleships in the harbor, awaiting orders from here.

Washington, Apr. 23—Late yesterday evening a message was received by the government officials from Charge de Affairs O'Shaughnessy which shows that he is still alive as it was reported that as he had not been heard of since Monday that he was dead.

Washington, Apr. 23—The House late last night passed President Wilson's bill asking for an appropriation of $500,000 to be used to take stranded U. S. subjects from Mexico.

Vera Cruz, Apr. 23—Attorney Leon, one of the most prominent men of this city, was placed under arrest last night and taken aboard the U. S. Gunboat "Prairie." He appeared at the home of the American Consulate under a flag of truce and tried in every possible way to get information regarding the American plans in the coming struggle.

Tacoma, Apr. 22—The count in the City Election was finished yesterday and recalled Mayor Fawcett was elected over Rev. Stoeber.

Trinidad, Apr. 22—Twenty-five men were killed yesterday in a clash between the Colorado militia and striking coal miners near Ludlow. Men have been sent out to investigate the affair.

Arthur Leonard came in on the Uncle Dan this trip from Warm Chuk where he has been for the past winter. He reports the cannery at that place getting ready for the seasons pack.

C. C. Harris and wife came in from the Santa Ana last Monday. Mr. Harris is the superintendent of the cannery at that place and reports that the work of getting the cannery ready for the coming season is progressing along rapidly.

R. W. Wait and wife came in last Wednesday on the Uncle Dan on their way to the States for a vacation. Mr. Wait is the manager of the company store at Shakan and has a good word to say for his town and all the rest of the West Coast.

J. D. Rounsefell of Ketchikan, is paying a visit to Wrangell this week in the interest of his company in the Insurance Business. Jack is in partnership with his father who has made several visits to Wrangell in the past year.

The Admiral Evans of the Admiral line called in on her way north last Monday and left the Government and Inspectors and License men George H. Whitney and Peter G. Pettiet. The men will spend several days in Wrangell inspecting the local gas boats and issuing license to several local gas boat men.

Miss Bergh, a graduate nurse, arrived up on one of the late boats last week and has assumed her duties as head nurse at the Wrangell Hospital. Miss Bergh's home is in Wyanett, Illinois, but for several years she has been a nurse in one of the large hospitals in Chicago.

The Southeastern Alaska Fishermen's Association held a meeting at the Red Men's Hall last Sunday afternoon. The meeting was for the purpose of laying plans for the coming seasons work.

Mayor Geo. H. Barnes and brother arrived up on the last Spokane from the south. The Mayor spent the winter in Redland California and is now returning to resume his position as manager of the local Sanitary cannery. The cannery is being overhauled and enlarged for the coming season.

Sam Cunningham, wife and children, Art Sorset and wife enjoyed last Sunday with a boat ride down to Shoemaker Bay where they spent the afternoon and enjoyed a bounteous luncheon. During the afternoon a target was set up and after several unsuccessful attempts at shooting it the sport was given up. But on the return to the boat Sam started to prime his engine, when lo and behold, the priming can was missing, but was finally found with a bullet hole through both sides of it. During the shooting one of the bullets had struck the boat, going through the sides and then through the priming can into the wall on the opposite side. Sam says that he does not mind the boat being shot through but he hates to have a brand new priming can spoiled.

Wrangell Dray Line In Operation

Oscar Carlson put his new dray line in operation the first of the week and has been busy ever since. The horse and wagon for the line arrived up on the last Alki from the south, and after the wagon was overhauled to suit the business the company has been busy. The new dray company fills a long felt need in Wrangell and as the growing condition of the town is at such a stage that the old hand trucks are no longer practical the new company will meet with the success that is a foregone conclusion.

Cannery Tender Arrives Home

The cannery tender Halcyon of the Alaska Sanitary Packing Co. arrived up from the south last Friday afternoon. The Halcyon left Seattle on the 11th making the run to Wrangell in 6 days. She is in charge of Capt. E. B. Fowler and on board coming up were, Fred Lewis, Lewis Schribner, W. N. Johnson, and Chas. Headland. The cannery is being put in shape this week for the coming season which from all appearances is going to be a good one.

Fire Scare Last Sunday Morning

The Fire Department was called out early Monday to answer to an alarm sounded from the fire bell in the Red Men's Hall. The fire was in the shack occupied by F. W. Stewart and his partner in back of the Chas. Shun Grocery Store. The fire had started from an unjointed stove-pipe in the garret from which a spark had lodged in the under side of the roof. Mr. Stewart was eating breakfast when someone yelled fire and on going out side discovered that it was his own home. The fire was extinguished with little loss. The inaccuracy of the bell as an alarm was very apparent as there were few who heard it even though they were right close, and something should be done to make the bell more open as it is very muffled in the close tower where it now hangs which could possibly be opened more and thus do away with the muffled sound.

More Money For Portland Line

The total subscription pledged support of the Alaska steamship line is $31,100. A. H. Devers, of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce which is carrying on the campaign, reported yesterday contributions amounting to $4000, contributed in sums of $1000 each from Fleischner Mayer & Co., J. C. Ainsworth, Mason Ehrman & Co., and the D. P. Thompson estate.

The plan of the campaign organization is to enlist as much as possible the support of the younger business of the city, and to pledge them to the support of the movement for better steamship service to Alaska, as a community enterprise needing the concerted support of all. —Oregonian.

John Fintzen Passes Away

John Fintzen, better known as "Gold-stick John," passed away at Sulzer on the West Coast, last Friday morning and was buried at Bell Island. Mr. Fintzen was a well known character all over Southeastern Alaska having spent the greater part of last summer up the Stikine River from where he returned to Wrangell on the 7th of last October and after spending several days in Wrangell demonstrating his invention of the gold stick he proceeded to Ketchikan and then to his home in Sulzer. He has been ailing for some time but hopes were held for his recovery until the first of last week when he caught a bad cold and the grippe settled in causing his death. Mr. Fintzen was about 49 years of age. He has made Sulzer his home for several years, but was one time connected with the Olympic Mining Company at their mines in Wrangell Narrows.

Dolphin Is Now Fine Steamer

The Alaska Steamship Company's popular little steamer Dolphin, Capt. J. Livingstone, made port from the south last Sunday on her first voyage of the season. Since going off the run last fall, the Dolphin has undergone considerable repairs, many of her state rooms being remodelled and the entire ship refurnished, no expense has been spared and she is now in a class with any of the boats making this port and with her popular crew is assured of her share of the travel of the country.

A poor attempt at tact is worse than none at all. In a banking house the other day somebody (just back from several years on the other side of the Atlantic) tried to throw a compliment at an old fellow, saying to him, "Why, you don't look a day older than ten years ago; indeed, you don't look sixty-five." The old fellow was mad enough to blow up, for he is only sixty-four and a half, and he believes he doesn't look more than fifty. — New York Press.

Wants Night Cable Service

The Juneau Commercial Club at last night's session passed resolutions requesting the War Department of the United States to increase the service of the Alaska cable now operated by the Signal Corps of the United States Army, by the addition of a night service, to the end that the increased business interests of Alaska may be vacillated and benefited; and that business interests here may be able to communicate with the outside world at any and all times.

The resolution was introduced by E. C. Russell and in its preamble recited the fact that the Alaska Daily Dispatch had entered into a contract with the Associated Press to furnish the paper with the news of the world for a morning paper if night telegraphic service can be had between Seattle and Juneau.

All the commercial bodies of Alaska and cities of Oregon and Washington and mercantile concerns doing business in Alaska are requested to join in the movement to get a better telegraphic service in Alaska.—Empire.

Big Steamers For Alaska Run

The Canadian Pacific has announced that the Princess Charlotte and the Princess Victoria, claimed to be the two finest ships on the Pacific Ocean, will be operated on the Alaska run next year. They are now being operated on the "Triangle run" from Vancouver to Seattle, calling at Victoria. Two new steamers, the Princess Margaret and Princess Irene, are being built for the Puget Sound run.

It has not been announced what will be done with the Princess May and the Princess Sophia when the larger and finer vessels are placed on the Northern route.

Start Work Stikine Trail

The work on the new Stikine Trail was started yesterday morning with a crew of eight men. Forest Supervisor Weigle arrived up from Ketchikan early Tuesday morning with his Foreman S. S. Swening, and a cook, Mrs. Johnston of that city, with the exception of three men the rest will be Wrangell men. Early yesterday morning the Karen, Capt. Johannsen left with the party and a house scow in tow to be used as a cook house, for the Stikine. In an interview with the Sentinel man Tuesday Forest Supervisor Weigle who is in charge of affairs stated that "he will make the trip up to the Stikine with the men to have a look at the lay of the land and determine where the trail can best be built after which he will leave the work in the hands of his foreman, Mr. Swening and return. He expects that the trail will start about a mile above the Garnet Ledge and will be built to Little Andrews Creek. There will be only a crew of about eight men used at the start but more may be employed later. The job to build the road will take from two to three months and we expect to favor Wrangell men as far as possible.

Dignity of Senatorial Visiting.
There is something impressive in the way one senator generally calls on another in the office building at Washington. A repressive dignity precludes the old time free and easy method of "dropping in to see Tom" or Jim or Jack—kicking in the door and sitting down on the table or desk and "smoking up" without invitation. Today there is a sedate step, measured and regular, as the senator sets out to call, with a manner and bearing that at once suggest senatorial dignity and courtesy. Such a bearing and dignity must perforce take the place of the impressive senatorial togs of the old days, and a visiting dramatist in body, to be sure, has suggested that it would be most fascinating to come to the senate on some holiday and find the distinguished center who now wear tweed and business suits attired in the Caesarian toga and mantle—a mise en scene that would leave Shakespeare's Julius Caesar at its best presentation hopelessly in the background.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Dreamland.
Most people sleep for about eight hours out of the daily twenty-four. That means they sleep one-third of each day, or one-third of their entire lives. And, according to many scientists, the whole time we are asleep we dream. We do not remember most of these dreams. Indeed, we remember only the very last one before we wake or some dream that is so vivid it wakes us. In other words, for one-third of our total lives we are dwelling in dreamland. And dreamland is a country of more utter absurdities, more grisly horrors, more fears, hopes, surprises and novelties than any land described by the most imaginative author. It is a land full of mystery, a land that science has for sixty centuries sought in vain to explore. It lies amid wholly unexplored regions of the human brain, regions which its possessor never saw.—New York World.

He Certainly Had Nerve.
The man is considerable of a bore. He was calling on a girl the other night and had stayed so long that she was somewhat fatigued. About midnight he began to talk about his health. "I'm not well," he said; "it's just my nerve that is keeping me up."
She couldn't resist the temptation. "That's what's keeping me up, too," she said.
A few minutes later he said he guessed he'd have to go.—New York Telegraph.

Notice To Fur Shippers

Redwood, N. Y., April 1, 1914.
Dear Sir:—
Owing to the increase in the number of our raw fur shipments, received from Alaska and Yukon Territory during the late spring and summer months, it becomes necessary for us to issue a circular for the benefit of these shippers, after we have discontinued our regular price-lists for the active raw fur season.

We have, therefore, compiled this circular for the convenience of our friends in the far north, and trust it will be much appreciated. As we are in touch with all the raw fur markets of this country and Europe, we are always prepared to pay the extreme prices of the market for all fine northern furs, and strongly urge anyone not yet acquainted with us, to make a trial shipment, as we are confident we can please you.

We assure our old shippers the same liberal treatment as in the past, and expect to hear from one and all this season, as usual. All shipments should be sent us by parcel post whenever possible, even if shipment is divided into several parcels of twenty pounds each, this being the limit for any one package.
